E. P. BRYAN, Agent.

The crop of weddings is unusually large this fall.

New Orleans Minstrels at Major Opera House to-night.

There were three additions to the Christian Church Sunday morning.

FOUND.—A small gold druggist's scarf pin which the owner can have by calling at this office.

Vote for Frankfort and the man that helped her keep the Capitol to-day, and don't you forget it.

The taking up and re-calking of the new water mains has been completed and the water turned into them.

Col. D. Howard Smith has sold his Henry county farm to Mr. James Wilson for seventy dollars per acre. He will probably return to this city to reside.

This is the day on which the Democratic voters of Frankfort should remember the Hon W. C. Owens and give him their votes for the nomination for Congress.

A long talk of wedding will take place Wednesday next. This city will furnish the groom and a neighboring county the bride.

The Masonic Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter will meet in Louisville on Tuesday, the former at 10 o'clock in the morning and the latter at 7 1/2 o'clock at night.

Twelve ladies, who united with the Baptist Church during the recent meeting, were baptised on Sunday night and eleven of the gentlemen on Wednesday night.

Mr. Pat Newman has purchased of Col. S. I. M. Major the business house on Broadway at present occupied by Mr. Adam Kahr as a bar-room, for twenty-eight hundred dollars cash.

Twelve of the convicts who confessed under Bro. Barnes were baptised in the penitentiary Sunday, seven being immersed and five sprinkled. Rev. J. B. Sharp and Rev. Dr. Morris Evans officiated.

By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that Dr. James Ely, having located in this city, tenders his professional services to our citizens. He is a physician of long experience, and comes highly recommended from his former home in Madison, Indiana. His office is next door to that of Mr. George B. Macklin.

At a meeting of the congregation of the Presbyterian Church held Sunday morning, Rev. J. W. Pugh, who has had charge of the Church for the past five years, tendered his resignation as pastor, which was accepted and the congregation resolved to unite with him in requesting Ebenezer Presbytery, which met at Flemingsburg Wednesday, to dissolve the pastoral relation.

Quite an interesting marriage will take place at the Episcopal Church in this city Thursday afternoon, the 19th inst., at 2 o'clock. Mr. Campbell Carr and Miss Maggie McKee, of this county, both deaf mutes, will be the contracting parties and the ceremony will be performed in the sign language by the Rev. Mr. Eddy, of the Deaf and Dumb Institution, Danville.

Mr. John Darnell and Miss Maude Cook, daughter of Mr. John Cook, of the Crow neighborhood were married at the residence of Mr. Cook, on Thursday evening last. Rev. Dr. J. M. Lewis was the officiating minister. Quite a number of the friends of the contracting parties were present to witness the consummation of this long looked for union, and to wish them a long and prosperous voyage on the sea of matrimony.

Welby and Pearl, the great song and dance men, are with the New Orleans Minstrels.

The gas mains will be laid across the bridge next week, and the week after we may expect to see the street lamps on the South Side supplied with gas.

The examining trial of Adam Kahr, jr., charged with being an accessory to the murder of Jerry Lee, was concluded Tuesday afternoon, and resulted in the accused being held over to the Circuit Court in the sum of one thousand dollars, which he gave and was released from jail.

William Bush, the well known colored porter at Messrs. W. A. Gaines & Co.'s office, lost his position at that establishment a week or two since, and the first of the week was discovered to be deranged. It is not known whether grieving over being discharged caused it or not.

In attempting to get aboard of the 8:15 train at the depot Wednesday morning while it was in motion, Gen. J. P. Nuckols, lost his footing and slipped under the car, but fortunately retained his hold upon the hand railing and was dragged some little distance until the train was stopped and he was relieved from his perilous situation.

Mr. Herman Muller, who has for several months been connected with the Bureau of Immigration in this city, sat down in the window of his room at the Buhr Hotel, Tuesday night, dropped to sleep and about eleven o'clock lost his balance and fell out of the window upon the pavement below, a distance of about fifteen feet, and received injuries from which he died at six o'clock Wednesday morning. He was a German by birth, but has been a resident of this country for a number of years. It was his intention, as expressed to some of his German friends, to return to Germany about the first of this month.

Under the arrangement, as we understand it, between the city and the Gas Company, only fifteen lamp posts are to be erected on the South Side to fill out the one hundred posts to be supplied by the Company in payment of the interest on their bonds. As South Frankfort is rapidly increasing in population, and her people cannot be left to grope in darkness always, would it not be a good idea to remove some of those from this side and put them up over there. There are five posts on St. Clair street, between Main and Wapping, two of which at least are seldom if ever lighted, why cannot they be removed and set up over there where they will do a vast deal of good instead of being left unused? Either give South Frankfort more gas lamps or set the oil lamps closer together.

The celebrated tragedian, Thomas W. Keene, will appear at Major Opera House on Tuesday evening next, the 17th, as Richard the Third. He will be ably supported by a first class company, and the entertainment will be worth attending. The Boston Herald says of his appearance in that city:

Mr. Thomas W. Keene's advent as a "star" was warmly welcomed last evening by an audience which fairly filled the orchestra, crowded the balcony, and literally packed the gallery of the Park Theatre. He selected for his debut the play of Richard III, in which some two years ago, he gained such success at another theatre. His conception of the part of Gloucester apparently has not been changed in any material point since he first presented it here. He follows the stage traditions quite closely, employing Colley Cibber's "acting version" of the play, with all its interpolations and "improvements"; yet his impersonation is not without a certain degree of originality. He makes of Gloucester a schemer who delights in villainy because it is villainy, rather than a man overpowered and driven by a resistless ambition, who hesitates at no crime so he attains his ends. There is an earnestness and magnetism about the man which plead strongly in his favor, and we shall be glad to see him in some more sympathetic part than Gloucester.

Mr. Keene, as we have said, was cordially welcomed last night, and throughout the performance was rewarded with frequent and hearty applause. He was several times recalled to the scene, and on one occasion (after the familiar "Off with his head!") was summoned before the curtain five times. In response to calls for a speech, he briefly protested that it would be out of character in the middle of the play, and simply said: "Two years ago you started the ball rolling, and it is rolling now."

Dryden will sell reserved seats as usual.

FROM COL. L. T. FOSTER.

Youngstown, Ohio, May 10th, 1880. Dr. B. J. Kendall & Co., Gents:—I had a very valuable Hambletonian colt that I prized very highly, he had a large bone spavin on one joint and a small one on the other which made him very lame; I had him under the charge of two veterinary surgeons who failed to cure him. I was one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spavin Cure in the Chicago Express. I determined at once to try it and got our druggists here to send for it, they ordered three bottles; I took them all and thought I would give them a thorough trial, I used it according to directions and the fourth day the colt ceased to be lame and the lumps have disappeared. I used but one bottle and the colt's limbs are as free from lumps and as smooth as any horse in the state. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I let two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles, who are now using it. Very Respectfully, L. T. FOSTER.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

Send for illustrated circular giving positive proof. Price $1. All druggists have it or can get it for you. Dr. B. J. Kendall & Co., Proprietors, Enosburgh Falls, Vt.
